

Fleet Service Pensions in Jeopardy

As long as the IAM remains your certified representative, US Airways Fleet Service employees will continue to benefit from the best retirement plan in the industry.

The $78 Multiplier

The IAM agreement at US Airways calls for participation in the IAM National Pension Plan which provides the financial security of a guaranteed monthly benefit upon retirement.

US Airways Fleet Service retirees will receive a pension of $78.30 a month for every year of future service. This means that a retiree with thirty years of credited service under the current plan can expect a check for more than $2,349 a month, in addition to any 401-k distributions.

Security

America West Fleet Service workers will enjoy those same benefits and begin building their retirement security when they fall under the IAM contract. However, if another organization represents US Airways Fleet Service members, the IAM National Pension Plan will be lost.

The IAM Pension Plan

With 75 contributing employers and more than $7 billion in net assets, the IAM Pension is a rock-solid plan. It's not subject to industry downturns or greedy companies. For more information about the IAM pension plan go to: www.iamnpf.org.

the IAM&AW
your airline, your union, your future
www.goiam.org/usairways

the IAM&AW

your airline, your union, your future

www.goiam.org/usairways